BABY DAY IN BEDFORD

Thursday, May 3rd, turned out to be a great day for Bedford Babies and Bedford Mothers, as the Parent-Teachers' Association had planned to make it. The afternoon and evening sessions held in the Methodist church were fairly well attended, and everyone present enjoyed and profited by the excellent programmes given. The afternoon program was as follows:

Music by a chorus of Bedford Mothers; prayer, Rev. John T. Bell; paper, "The Care of the Young Child," Dr. Wilmot Ayres; vocal solo, Mrs. H. B. Strock; address, "The Moral Training of Children," Rev. J. Albert Eyer; music, Mothers' Chorus; song and Salute to the Flag, children of the primary grade; cornet solo, Mr. Edward Pate. At the conclusion of this programme the mothers adjourned to the Sunday school room, where tea was served and a social hour enjoyed by all. Charts furnished by the Department of Health at Harrisburg were hung on the walls and furnished information of every kind concerning infant statistics for the State of Pennsylvania. Quantities of literature were given away, covering every question which the anxious mother desires answered for the benefit of her young child.

Many interesting exhibits had been prepared by the committee, including a complete layette, equipment for the bath, correct beds, baby carriages, etc. Even a table of "baby killers" was not forgotten. Best of all, the nursery, conducted for the benefit of babies who could not be left at home, was full of happy, romping children.

The evening programme was as follows: Music, Chorus of Mothers; prayer, Rev. K. A. Bishara; cornet solo, Master Enfield Dibert; lecture, "The Hygiene of the Home," Dr. J. C. Muldowney; vocal solo, Mrs. Geo. Jacobus. The evening speaker, Dr. Muldowney, of the State Department of Health, gave an extremely interesting and forceful talk, bringing home to every person present, the crying need for the preservation of child life. The number of children who die in the first year of life is very great, the number of such deaths in the United States being approximately 300,000, and, according to physicians, most of these deaths are preventable.

Under the stress of war, facing the necessity of conserving infant life to make up for a lower birth rate, nations of Europe are taking active measures to protect their infants and young children. Now the same conditions confronts the United States; before similar measures become necessary, let the patriotic men and women of the land enter into a peaceful campaign to care for and conserve our child life, that the strength of the American Nation be not depleted and that our next generation may be an even stronger one than the present.

The State Department of Health has given to the committee a complete set of blue print charts on the Fly, Infant Mortality, etc., as well as a number of pamphlets. The charts are to be loaned to any church or organization who proposes to use them for educational purposes, while the literature will be given free to any who apply. The pamphlets cover such topics as "Blindness in Infants," "Home Milk Supply," "The Fly," "Tuberculosis," "Care of the Teeth," "What Every Mother Wants to Know About Her Baby," and "How to Make Your Baby a Better Baby."

Any one desiring to borrow the charts or procure literature either for private use or distribution can do so by applying to Mrs. John C. Lyon, Bedford, Pa.

Edward Reighard

Falling a distance of twelve feet from a scaffold surrounding the pottery of the Andrew Ramsey Co., at Ellerslie, Md., about 2.30 p. m., Sunday May 13, Edward Reighard, was so badly injured that he died Sunday night at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Norman Miller.

Mr. Reighard was the son of Abigail and Margaretta Reighard and was born at Imletown, October 20, 1864. He was united in marriage to Ida Luman on March 31, 1900. The deceased is survived by his wife and step-daughter, Mrs. Norman Miller and by one brother, H. K. Reighard, of Bedford, and two sisters, Mrs. Hezekiah Mock, of Imletown, and Mrs. A. S. Cobler, of St. Clairsville, Pa. The body was taken to Imletown Wednesday morning, at which time services were held at Pleasant Valley Church, conducted by Rev. A. B. Miller.

Come and Hear What You Can Do to Aid the Defenders of Your Country

After repeated efforts the Bedford Branch of the Navy League, U. S. A. has succeeded in securing a date with Mrs. Anna W. LaDomis, who is sent out by the Emergency Aid of Pennsylvania, and who will explain the War Relief Work at this place on Tuesday evening, May 22, at 8 o'clock in Assembly Hall. Mrs. LaDomis thoroughly understands the situation and can make clear to every man, woman and child how to contribute their "bit" toward the comforts of our sailors and soldiers. She made an address at Huntingdon two weeks ago and they are most anxious for a return engagement.

A house to house canvas will be made and every loyal American citizen is urged to lend his or her support and attend this patriotic meeting. No admission will be charged and no collection lifted. May 22, 8 p. m.

The local branch has arranged to take Mrs. LaDomis to Everett so that she may make an address at that place during the afternoon.

Wm. N. Nelson

Wm. N. Nelson died at his home at Santa Ana, Cal., Friday, April 27. He was born at Bedford, Pa., April 27, 1847, being aged 70 years at the time of his death.

At the age of 15 years he took up arms in the Civil War, serving part of the time in the army of the Potomac under General Kilpatrick and was with Custer's brigade during part of his service. He enlisted at Harrisburg with the 18th Pennsylvania cavalry, enlisting when he reported to his father at that place with a band of horses. He fought at Gettysburg and in many other of the big battles of the Civil War.

At the close of his service he returned to Bedford, where he took charge of his father's flour mill and managed it for many years. Later he moved with his family to Saxton, where he was engaged in various lines of business for a number of years. He retired about fifteen years ago and moved to Santa Ana, California, where he has lived a retired life since that time.

He was a son of Hon. John Nelson of Bedford, who distinguished himself in the Civil War, and who was associate judge at Bedford for many years following the war. His father was wounded in the leg in 1863 at the Fairfax (Va.) courthouse by a bullet fired by Col. Mosby, amputation of the leg becoming necessary to save his life.

Mrs. John R. Claycomb

The death of Mrs. Miria Claycomb, wife of John H. Claycomb, of Reynoldsdale, reminds us the we have no continuing city here. On the morning of the ninth of May, at the advanced age of 89 years, 5 months and 11 days, she quietly passed away, having been a patient sufferer for a number of years, and bore her affliction with a Christian resignation, seldom surpassed. Her husband and two daughters preceded her to the world beyond some years ago. She leaves two sons and one daughter, George, of Cessna; Samuel, of Windber, and Eltie, at home; ten grandchildren, and three great-grandchildren. It was the pleasure of the writer to have known her for a number of years and always found her with a pleasant smile and a kind word for all. She was a consistent member of the Reformed Church for many years and always in her place at church when health would permit. Grandmother Claycomb will be greatly missed not only in the family circle but by a host of friends and neighbors.

In the absence of her pastor, Rev. Baughman, Rev. Zinn, of the Lutheran church had charge of the services at the church and delivered a fine sermon to the living from Psalm 90:12. She was laid to rest beside her husband in the Fishertown cemetery. May she rest in peace.

Mrs. Caroline M. Blair

The funeral of Mrs. Caroline M. Blair, aged 66 years, wife of N. A. Blair, of Hyndman, Pa., was held at her late home on Sunday afternoon, at 2.30. Interment was made in the Hyndman cemetery. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. E. C. Callahan, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, of which Mrs. Blair had been a member for fifty one years. On May 16th, she would have been married forty-eight years. Before her marriage, Mrs. Blair's name was Elder, her home being in Cumberland Valley. Shortly after her marriage, she moved to Cumberland, then to Centerville and lived until the time of her death. Mrs. Blair had many friends, who will remember her for her piety, gentleness and generosity. She was a good mother. The surviving members of her family are two brothers: J. G. Elder, Terre Haute, Indiana, and Albin R. Elder, Quincy, Ill. The latter was prevented from attending the funeral on account of illness; her husband, N. A. Blair, sons, O. D., and John A. Blair, of Hyndman, and two daughters, Mrs. Florence M. Young, of Akron, Ohio, and Alice V. Blair, teacher in Akron Public Schools. Also five grandchildren survive, Lucille, Warren, Eleanor and Claude Blair, and Randall Young.

Gephart, Nave and family, Jospet Elder and family, Mr. and Mrs. Brose Cessna, Mrs. Ida Doyle and Mrs. Hetta Slinger, of Cumberland Valley, Pa.

The pallbearers were: Francis Carpenter, George Birchall, William Hill, Charles R. Rhodes, A. G. Crabbe and William Sheavely.

GREAT GAIN IN MEMBERSHIP

Of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows of Pennsylvania.

The biennial session of the State Odd Fellows met at York and elected Robert W. Montgomery, of Philadelphia as the new head of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows in Pennsylvania. He was elected Grand Master at the opening session of the State Grand Lodge Tuesday, succeeding Perry S. Shaver, of Pittsburgh, Roy D. Bremen, of Harrisburg, was elected Deputy Grand Master; Usher A. Hall, of Philadelphia, Grand Secretary, and Fred C. Hanyen, of Scranton, Grand Treasurer, were re-elected. James H. Avery, of Philadelphia was elected Grand Representative of the Sovereign Grand Lodge.

Twelve hundred Odd Fellows and about 500 women of the Rebekah degree were in York Tuesday in time to participate in the opening sessions of both organizations. Various entertainments have been provided to beguile every moment not occupied by the business of lodge affairs. A performance by the accomplished minstrels of Canton York, was witnessed Tuesday afternoon. Competitive and imitative degrees occupied this evening.

Mayor E. S. Hugentugier delivered addresses of welcome before both the Grand Lodge and Rebekah sessions. Miss Minnie Sowers, of York, Deputy President of the State body of the Rebekahs, presided over the meeting of that organization and E. G. Lowe, of Philadelphia, was one of the speakers.

The retiring Grand Master, Perry A. Shaver, of Pittsburgh, in his report declared that in his opinion the subordinate lodges should maintain the aged and indigent widows of their brothers, instead of imposing this burden on the Rebekah lodges. He also advocated a term of two years instead of one for the Grand Master, and for Noble Grands, a year instead of six months. He said that biannual instead of annual meetings would serve to dispose of the business of the Grand Lodge and at half the present expense.

The Grand Lodge was thrilled by Master Shaver's appeal to patriotism, as he exclaimed: "When the marching columns go forth the boys of the Three-Link Order will be there ready to shed the last drop of blood in their veins for their country's sake."

A total membership of 174,393 of Odd Fellows in the State was reported by Grand Secretary Usher A. Hall of Philadelphia. A gain of 6062, recorded for the last six months, was greater than that in any one of the previous five years. Eighteen new lodges were instituted during the year. Oil City Lodge, No. 539 leads in membership, with 1015 enrolled.

The order, according to the report, paid out $948,224 in sick and death benefits in Pennsylvania during the past year, when the Rebekahs, with $31,400 members, paid out $1,614. Harrisburg, Reading, Williamsport and Wilkes-Barre are cities bidding for the next Grand Lodge session.

LARGE PATRIOTIC MEETING

Flag Raising at Bedford Saturday, May 12th. Address by B. F. Madore, Esq.

One of the most pleasing patriotic demonstrations held in Bedford in years occurred on Saturday afternoon May 12, when a flag was raised on the Public Square upon a 65 foot pole. It was planned to have held the meeting on the 5th, but on account of the rain that day, the exercises were postponed until the 12th, but this did not dampen the patriotic spirit nor lessen the attendance for Julia, Pitt and Penn Streets were lined with automobiles which brought the people from different portions of the County to take part in the ceremonies. When the Bedford band marched on Juliana Street towards the Square an immense throng gathered from all sections of the town, stores, banks and business houses closed for the hour and promptly at 2 o'clock the ceremonies began, with Capt. A. I. Lyon, Chairman of the Public Safety Committee of Bedford County in charge. Capt. Lyon made an exceedingly appropriate address at the conclusion of which Rev. John T. Bell, of Bedford M. E. Church, offered prayer. Mr. H. C. Robinson, a veteran of the Civil War on the 53rd anniversary of the battle of Spotsylvania, in which he was engaged, unfurled the flag to the breeze amidst applause and cheers, and the singing of the Star Spangled Banner by a large choir under Miss L. D. Shuck.

B. F. Madore, Esq., then delivered a patriotic address, which was well received. He dwelt upon the grave danger now before our nation in the war with Germany and especially urged that our forces be sent to France at an early date for the encouragement it would give to the Allies, and for its tremendously depressing influence on Germany. And the action of our nation would be notice to all the nations of the world hereafter that the United States would defend the rights of her citizens everywhere with her army and navy.

Mr. Madore especially urged our young men to enlist in Company L of the National Guards, because it would not comfort with our record in the Civil War to permit this Company to go into Federal service not recruited to full war strength.

By arrangement of the Committee in charge the address was short but it contained much worthy of consideration, and its patriotic tone inspired four enlistments in Company L Saturday evening.

Rev. K. A. Bishara, of the Presbyterian Church closed the ceremonies with the benediction.

The pole was donated by Mr. Frank Leonard of Bedford Township.

Hyndman Boy Wins Promotion in U. S. Marines

Now that our country has great need of her trained military men, the community of Bedford will be pleased to learn that Frederick W. Martz, of Hyndman, has been promoted to the rank of corporal in the United States Marine Corps, according to an official bulletin received from Washington, D. C.

Corporal Martz, who is a son of Frank Martz, of that place, enlisted in the Marine Corps at Cumberland, Md., on June 7, 1915, and he was recommended by a board of examining officers for this advancement. He is now stationed at Annapolis, where he is doing special shore duty.

Numerous enlistments in the ranks of the Marine Corps, who are trained both on land and sea, make the need of trained military instructors imperative. Corporal Martz thoroughly fitted him for this work and it is probable that he will be assigned to one of the training stations for duty.

HARRISBURG NEWS LETTER

Senator Penrose's men in the Legislature—especially in the popular branch—have a fine opportunity now to give practical demonstration of the sincerity of their protestations of favoring a square deal.

No more important bills are before the present Legislature than four acts drafted by the Democratic State legislative committee and introduced by Wilson G. Sarig, the Democratic floor leader in the House, at intervals. One would abolish the vicious voters' assistance cause, except for voters physically unable to mark a ballot; another is a new corrupt practices act "with teeth in it"; the third would wipe out the present extravagant system of distributing charity appropriations and establish a system much like the method of distributing common school funds; the fourth is the anti-trust bill which would prevent discrimination in favor of or against any individual or community.

These bills have been gathering dust in House committees for weeks and months—ever since they were introduced. All House committees are controlled absolutely by the Penrose Republican faction. Not a Penrose man has shown any disposition to have the bills come out. This is not surprising. But the Democrats determined to have "their day in court," at any rate, and hearings are being held this week on all four bills thru the efforts of Floor Leader Sarig. Even the most optimistic Democrats scarcely expect anything to come of their work—immediately. Their efforts may bear fruit in future years. But certain phases of Pennsylvania machine politics are too greatly afraid of revising the present election laws to expect them to receive much consideration as such interests control the Legislature.

Democrats who argued in favor of the bills at the hearings included United States District Attorney, E. Lowry Humes, of Meadville, who was instrumental in drafting them; E. C. Higbee, of Uniontown, ex-State Chairman Roland S. Morris, of Philadelphia, and Farmer, Wm. T. Creasy, of Catawissa.

Characteristic Republican chicanery has come to light in underhanded methods to increase the salaries of judges in eight counties. Innocent-looking amendments to existing laws were slipped in in the hope that they would get thru the Legislature in the hurlyburly of the last weeks without attracting attention. The Penrose men over-reached themselves, however, by not trusting each other. Result: Two bills, either of which would nullify the other.

D. J. Graeff, of Schuylkill, introduced a bill the effect of which would be to raise Schuylkill and Westmoreland judges from $7,000 to $8,500 per year. On the heels of this came a bill from William Davis, of Cambria, which would have raised judges in those two counties and in Cambria, Berks, Fayette, Lancaster, Montgomery and Washington, from $7,000 to $8,000 per year.

Total addition to the state's payroll would be somewhere around $20,000 per annum.

Judges' salaries are fixed according to population of their districts, which is where the Graeff and Davis bills conflict. Neither has got further than Senate Committee.

Gossip persists at all points of the political compass that the Penrose-McNichol and Brumbaugh-Vare factions have reached a deadlock over offices. The governor's crowd is said to have served notice on the Penrose wing that for every anti-Penrose man who may be dropped from either the Auditor General's or State Treasury Departments, at least five Penrose men will be separated from other executive offices.

Reports of the deadlock have the ring of truths, particularly because of the slowness of either Auditor General Charles A. Snyder or State Treasurer Harmon M. Kephart to announce any changes. Anticipations that something like a "clean sweep" would be made in the fiscal offices have failed to materialize. The Penrose side seemed to adopt a policy of resting on its arms after the three changes in the Corporations Bureau were made on May day when Snyder became auditor general.

Penrose's do-nothing legislature lives fully up to its reputation when corporate interests have anything at stake. The Woodward bill increasing the scale of workmen's compensation is merely one of the many instances illustrative of this. Workmen are demanding passage of this measure; corporation men, of course, are opposed to it—just as they were opposed to the original compensation law and staved it off for years by one set of tactics and another. The House Committee on Labor and Industry has been smothering the Woodward bill for many weeks. Last week the State Federation of Labor's convention formally visited Governor Brumbaugh and asked his influence toward passage of the law. Rarely has such a spectacle been presented, for the chairman of the committee, Assemblyman William J. Mangan, of Allegheny, was a member of the labor convention. The block to a report of the bill, of course, is the "invisible government" which is not difficult to locate even if not visible.

With the approach of final adjournment, wary legislators are keeping sharply on guard against Penrose machine tricks which are common to the mad rush of the end of the session. It is during these days that the skillful floor whip can best "get in the fine work." The inexperienced legislator, weary of the long grind, is not keen as in more leisurely days. But the Penrose machine never sleeps. It is on the job twenty-four hours a day. It is during the closing weeks—ofttimes the closing days—that such little jobs as the notorious Catlin Commission of 1911 are put across. Bills which the organization wants are jockeyed thru when no one is presumed to be looking. Bills the organization doesn't want are killed (or cleverly emasculated) under similar conditions. Often the skilled application of such methods doesn't come to light until the Legislature is a thing of the past.

This year, however, the likelihood of guerilla work is not so great as usual. In addition to the watching by the Democratic minority, each of the Republican factions will watch the other. Each regards the other as not to be trusted. And this makes the people's position so much the better.

The manner in which the Penrose element in the Legislature has endeavored (so far, with great success) to block legislation to end the harmful traffic in "dope" in this state is indicative of its attitude toward most good legislation. Half-a-dozen "anti-dope" bills are in the Legislature. All are aimed at the single end of preventing young girls and boys, as well as adults, from becoming enslaved to opium, morphine or similar drugs. No one has been able to raise a sound argument against such legislation. But "invisible government" doesn't want such legislation and the do-nothing legislature is living up to its name with these bills. The Senate has taken favorable action but in the House, S. J. Gans, of Philadelphia, Penrose Chairman of the Committee on Public Health and sanitation, has refused to allow consideration of the measures by his committee. Gans has been standing in the way in spite of protests against the dope traffic from its victims themselves.

Special Eyeglasses for Divers

A new eyeglass has been patented for the use of submarine divers. It is well known that the human eye does not function properly under water, objects appearing badly blurred and distorted. This is due to the fact that the speed of light in water is different from the speed of light in air, and hence the light rays enter the eye with a different angle of refraction. The eye, being designed for focusing rays coming through the air, is unable to focus rays coming through the water. The condition is analogous to that of defective eyes which are unable to focus properly on ordinary light rays in the air. It may be similarly corrected by the use of special lenses, with the help of which the diver can see as clearly under water as in the air.

THE OUTLOOK FOR

INFANTILE PARALYSIS

Little Talks on Health and Hygiene
by Samuel G. Dixon, M. D., LL. D.
Commissioner of Health

The Health Authorities of Pennsylvania realize the necessity of maintaining the highest degree of health at home. This is demanded, not only from the humanitarian viewpoint but also that Pennsylvania may furnish her maximum in food stuff, munitions of war and fighters.

Doctor Dixon is well aware that many of his assistants will have to go in the Army and Navy. The health authorities therefore ask the full cooperation of every citizen in taking care of his or her individual health, and to take every precaution not to permit the spread of any communicable disease from their homes.

We are fast approaching the warm months of the year that favor infantile Paralysis.

Last year the public lost its nerve. This season it is hoped that the epidemic will not reappear.

From the history of the disease it would not be surprising if we had comparatively little this year, yet no man can predict what nature may do.

The health authorities are alert and busy doing all those things they believe can in any way lessen the chances of having another epidemic.

On account of our want of exact knowledge as to the origin of the disease and the act of nature in transmitting it from one to another, we must avoid any place in which the disease manifests itself. We can also be careful not to expose our children to persons, furniture and clothing coming from infected houses or districts.

To contract the disease it may require direct contact with the sick. This, however, is far from being a settled question, it is yet quite possible that there is a carrier, for instance, there was some evidence brought forward to demonstrate it was a stable fly, this has not been proven yet there may be some other insect that does carry it.

The State Department of Health has placed sick monkeys with well ones without the latter ever contracting the disease as far as we could determine. It is, however, claimed by some of our best investigators that the disease is transmitted by means of insects. Another possible explanation would lie in the claim by some clever medical men that there are many children who have the disease so lightly that it is never discovered.

The well must be kept from the sick, however, in human life. While the disease is lurking about, no well child should be exposed to one showing the least illness.

The health authorities are not contemplating any general quarantine. It is too soon to decide about it yet.

The sick should be quarantined, the State Health Department has always held, for two weeks.

The discharges from the bowels, throat or nose should be disinfected. The nurse or the one in care of the sick should wear a gown and the face and hands should be washed or disinfected before mingling with those outside the sick room.

If the conditions of a home are bad and the child cannot be isolated or kept alone, the hospital is the best place for it. This should be done very early in the sickness as quiet and rest are essential to recovery. A doctor experienced in treating the disease and a nurse with like experience add much to the chances of recovery.

Traveling with children and congregating them in groups should be discouraged. In fact, in an epidemic it should be forbidden under the police regulations. Cleanliness of the home and person are essential. All animal and insect life should be kept out of the home. Screening of all windows and doorways is essential. Food should not be eaten raw, with possibly the exception of milk known to be clean.

They Ridicule the Puritans But

Boast of Puritan Ancestry

In the June American Magazine William Roscoe Thayer says:

"It is the fashion of late to speak condescendingly of the Puritans, as of a people of narrow views and of men of sour temperament; but no descendant of theirs, and no later immigrant who now dwells in the commonwealth they founded, and enjoys the blessings which it bestows upon us, will fail to glory in being able to trace back to such forefathers. The story of the conditions which faced the passengers of the 'Mayflower' when they landed at Plymouth can never be too often repeated. To have as founders of our state men and women who 'had the fear of God in their hearts, but feared the face of no man,' ranks as the initial glory of Massachusetts."

WEDNESDAY

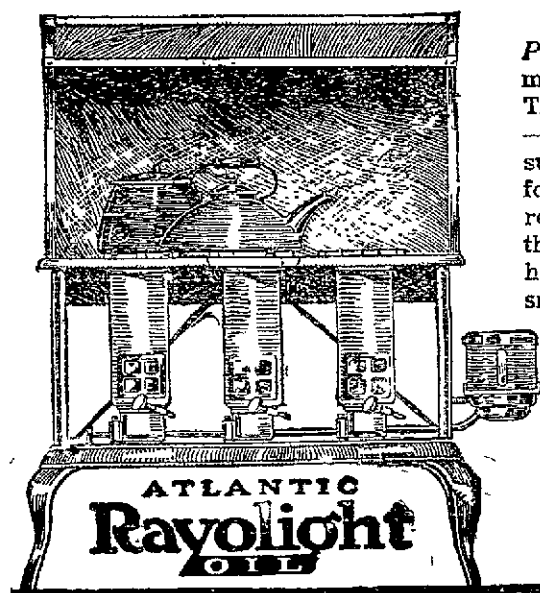

RIGHT in the midst of everything—a sudden thought: "Wonder how the fire is?" Then, it's leave your sweeping, run downstairs, rake and shake, shovel coal and trudge back again. Wouldn't it be fine to go right ahead and forget about the kitchen? It certainly would! And you can.

NEW PERFECTION

have brought a new kind of sweeping day—a new kind of every day to thousands of busy housewives.

A Perfection Oil Cook Stove will come into your kitchen and lighten your burdens. All you do is strike a match and "put on the things."

You can regulate the heat exactly as you want it. It stays that way without watching. You'll be specially interested in the fireless cooker and the separate oven. Look up the dealer near you who sells Perfection Oil Cook Stoves.

THE ATLANTIC REFINING COMPANY
Philadelphia and Pittsburgh

Another important thing is that Perfection Oil Cook Stoves burn the most economical of fuels—kerosene. There's a difference in kerosenes—not a price, but a quality. To be sure of getting perfect results, ask for Rayolight Oil. It's so highly refined and scientifically purified that it always gives an even, intense heat without sputter, smoke or smell. HOW THEY DRILLED IN 1807

On the fly-leaf of the old volume is written "Jno. Miller's Book 29 August, 1818. Chillisquaque" and the title page reads: "Regulations for the Order and Discipline of the Troops of the United States, Lancaster, Printed by John R. Mathews, 1807." The regulations are according to an act of Congress, passed March 29, 1779, by order John Jay, President. Attest Charles Thompson, Secretary. Here follows a few extracts: "The officers who exercise their functions on horseback are to be armed with swords, the platoons officers with swords and capotons, the non-commissioned officers with swords, firelocks and bayonets and the soldiers with firelocks and bayonets.

A company is to be formed in two ranks, at one pace distance, with the tallest men in the rear and both rank sized with the shortest men of each in the centre. The position of a soldier without arms; He is to stand straight and firm upon his legs with the head turned to the right so far as to bring the left eye over the waistcoat buttons, the heels two inches apart, the toes turned out, the belly drawn in a little, but without constraint, the breast a little projected, the shoulders square to the front and kept back and the hands hanging down the side with the palms close to the thighs. The common step was 2 feet and about 75 to the minute while the quickstep was the same distance but 120 to the minute.

The Manual Exercise began with Poise-Firelock in two motions. With the left hand turn the firelock briskly, bringing the lock to the front, at the same instant seize it with the right hand just below the lock, keeping the piece perpendicular. With a quick motion bring the firelock from the shoulder directly before the face, and seize it with the left hand just below the lock so that the little finger may rest upon the feather-spring and the thumb lie flat on the stock. Then follow "Prime and Load" in fifteen motions, counting a second between each motion—Cock-Firelock! Take Aim! Fire! Half cock-Firelock! Handle Cartridge! (that's where the top of the cartridge was to be bitten off and covered with the thumb) Prime! (Shake the powder into the pan) Shut Pan! Charge with Cartridge! (Put it in the muzzle) Draw-Rammer! Ram down Cartridge! Return-Rammer! Should-er-Firelock! (By this time the Indian had shot you full of arrows and gone home with your scalp). The directions for fixing bayonets say. Quit the piece with your right hand, sink it with your left down the left side as far as may be without constraint, at the same time seize the bayonet and fix it, etc.

In all exercises in detail the men will use a piece of wood instead of a flint. The marching commands are unique, witness:

"Take care to Counter-March from the Right, by Platoons! To the Right

Face! March!

"Take care to display column from the centre, etc."

"Take care to fire by Battalion! Battalion! Make ready!"

"Take Aim! Fire!"

Some of the camp regulations, read oddly enough. When any of the men want water, they must apply to the officer of the police, who will order the drum to beat the necessary signal; on which all who want water must immediately parade with their canteens before the colors, where the officer of the police will form and send them off under care of non-commissioned officers who are to be answerable that they bring back the whole detachment. That the men may always appear clean on the parade, and as means of preserving their health, the non-commissioned officers are to see that they wash their hands and faces every day, and often, when necessary. And when any river is high, and the season favorable, the men shall bathe themselves as frequently as possible. All camp calls were made by the drum and the drummers were to be punished for practicing at any time except that set by the adjutant general and nearer to the front of the battalion, than 100 paces. Officers were warned that no man the least disguised with liquor should be placed on sentry duty.

The reason for the name of "engagement," a sort of junior lieutenant of a company is explained by the regulations requiring them to carry, in regular turn, the two colors of the regiment and directing them to learn to march with a regular step and straight to the front as the regiment dressed by the colors.

Each non-commissioned officer must be provided with a "turn-screw" (screw-driver?) and not suffer any private to take his arms to pieces without his permission.

Private must custom themselves to dress in the night for that purpose always to have their effects in their knapsacks, with that placed where they could put their hands on it in a moment etc.

In action they "must level well and not throw away their fire" and when on the march always have a stopper for the muzzle of their guns.

The book from which these extracts are taken is the property of H. M. Missimer, of Jersey Shore, Pa. and was found in an old building at that place.

OUR BOYS ARE GOING TO WAR

We read each day of bobby boys—
(Twas but yesterday we bought them toys,

And gently chided them about their noise)

And now, what is this we hear?

His man-soul chafes at all bonds and ties—

He must haste to the fray e'en tho' he dies,

The summons is loud and clear!

He thrills anew as each call is heard,

His fancy leaps, and his soul is stirred,

He sees the march at the fateful word,

While the flag floats on the breeze—

But a mother watches with heart so sore—

Too well knows she what may lie before

Her untried boy on a distant shore,

Or perchance on cruel seas.

"My boy, I can't let you go," she pleads,

"I love you so, and my poor heart bleeds,

Am I not more than your country's needs?

It will be your death and mine!

But she strokes her hair where it shows the gray

And cries, "Mother dear, I must obey

O surely you would not bid me stay!"

Let me go; and don't repine!"

So she bravely speaks with a tender kiss

"I never brought up my boy for this!"

But, you can't be a slacker, Go, don't miss

The call for your country's good!"

And she smiles farewell, and hides her fears—

(Ah, time enough afterwards for tears,

When her soul with anguish burns and sears.)

'Tis the price of Motherhood!"

BACK TO THE FARM

If we are to avert the calamity of a very serious food shortage in the United States, immediate and concerted action is called for. The homely expression, "Back to the Farm" significantly expresses the need of the hour, and every able bodied man and woman, who can be spared from their accustomed employment, is needed somewhere, either on a farm, or some other branch of the Government service. Boys between sixteen and twenty-one years of age can also render valuable aid in the present extraordinary circumstances by volunteering their services to assist in planting and harvesting farm products during the coming summer.

The need for hundreds of thousands of additional workers in the agricultural districts of our country is imperative and the United States Department of Labor, charged with the important duty of supplying this badly needed help, is putting forth every effort to secure the enrollment of men, women and boys, willing to accept employment on farms, and all persons desiring to enlist for farm service are urged to submit their names in person or by mail, to either of the following offices of the U. S. Employment Service in Zone 3, which includes the States of Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Delaware.

Main offices, Nos. 132-131-136 South Third Street, Philadelphia, Pa. sub branches, Berger Building, Pittsburgh, Pa. and old Federal Building, 6th and King Streets, Wilmington, Del.

Commissioner of Immigration, Elmer B. Greenwalt, and U. S. Director of Employment, James I. Hughes who are directing the Federal Employment Service in Zone 3, state that every effort is being made to man the farms of the three States, comprising the territory coming under their supervision. As planting time is already here all applicants for farm work are urged to present their names and addresses promptly to either of the offices given above.

Gun Fired by Gasoline

A new kind of gun using gasoline as the explosive has a reservoir beneath the barrel, with a carburetor behind, and a battery in the stock. A plunger at the rear of the breech serves to compress the mixture of gas and air admitted to the chamber by a valve from the carburetor, and pressing the trigger closes the electric circuit, exploding the charge and discharging the bullet. As the gas is compressed by the plunger before the firing, the projectile is held in place in the barrel by springs, which are capable of resisting several times the plunger pressure, though quickly yielding to the force of the explosion.

"Physical construction camps" are advocated for men rejected from the army because of physical unfitness. Are not the farms good reconstruction camps for the purpose?"

While some timid souls are shivering at the thought of a German invasion, suggested by eminent alarmists and amateur experts, Joffre and Viviani have captured the West, taken New York by storm and carried Boston and Canada.

Utah is the third State to fill its regular army quota, following Nevada and Oregon. There seems to be an amount of fighting spirit west of the Missouri not dreamed of in the philosophy of party patriots in the East.

Plenty of Proof

From People You Know—From Bedford Citizens

The greatest skeptic can hardly fail to be convinced by evidence like this. It is impossible to produce better proof or merit than the testimony of residents of Bedford of people who can be seen at any time. Read the following case of it:

Miss Mary F. Wise, 147 Spring St., Bedford, says: "I suffered greatly from backaches and distressing pains through my kidneys. I couldn't stoop or lift anything without great pain and I also had severe headaches and dizzy spells. Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Heckerman's Drug Store, removed the backaches and pains in my kidneys and the headaches and dizzy spells left. The action of my kidneys also became regulated. I am pleased to have you use my recommendation for Doan's Kidney Pills at any time you wish."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Miss Wise had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

HOW HOUSEWIVES FORCE FOOD PRICES UP

The thrifty housewife who piles up stores of sugar and flour in her pantry in the laudable desire to protect her family from the famine she fears is helping send prices higher with every purchase.

Grocers have completely changed their selling methods. They always have urged quantity buying, because it costs less to sell and deliver goods by the case than by the can; but now they find that when everybody is doing it the demand for staples is far greater than the supply. And so when a customer orders twenty pounds of sugar they deliver five, and the tenor of their advice to their customers is to buy from day to day just what is needed. They point out, and with truth, that when the housewife buys more than she needs she is speculating in food, and since that action helps to force high prices higher, it is unfair and unpractical.

In normal times it was well for housewives to buy in quantity, because of the saving, but now the grocers are pleading for moderation. And the grocers are right. It may be that food will be scarce next winter but it is selfishness rather than prudence that prompts the laying in of stores that will not be used for months, if that very fact makes it harder for other consumers, (many of whom are less well supplied with ready money) to get the food they must have.

Those who know say that the stocks of food that usually fill the warehouses are now held in home pantries. They admit a great shortage in the visible food supply, but they say that the invisible supply that has been carried home from the grocery store by millions of thrifty housewives is far greater than ever before.

Sugar will continue to advance in price as long as the demand for it is excessive. But there is enough sugar on hand for our immediate need, and the coming crop will be very large. There is no reason to expect higher prices in the fall than now. Indeed, it is probable that there will be a decided slump. It is thrift, then, to buy only enough sugar to fill the sugar bowl and to wait for the new crop before stocking up in the former approved way.

And that is true of other staples. Indeed, it is a real waste to buy cereals for insects to eat, and to store great stocks of groceries when they may lose their freshness and become moldy or unsound.

"Stop speculating" is good advice.

Knitting Classes
The Bedford Branch of the Navy League of the U. S. A., has started knitting classes. Everyone who wants to learn to knit should join the class that meets at Miss Cora McGirr's home at 2:30 o'clock every Monday afternoon. Those who can knit, come to the Federal Building every Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. All who wish to join the Monday evening knitting class kindly apply to Miss Jessie B. Barclay.

There is urgent demand for all warm articles for the coast fleet. The men suffer fearfully from cold and there is so much spray on the little boats that to guard our shore line. Four knitted garments complete a set, a sleeveless jacket, muffler, wristlets, and a helmet. Twenty of these sets are required for a submarine and five hundred sets for a battleship. We hope that every knitter whom this article may reach will at once go to work for "Our Boys" of the Navy.

Printed directions and the proper wool and needles will be given to all persons who desire to do the work at home or in the classes. A fund is being raised to provide all materials, so that any voluntary contributions will be most acceptable. Pay to Mrs. V. F. Enfield, chairman of Ways and Means committee, or Miss Lizzie Bain, sub-treasurer.

The Local Branch of the League is very grateful to the Red Seal Society for a contribution of $30.00, and to the ladies of Bedford and other county towns for so nobly responding to this cause.

Getting out a paper without heat such weather as this is not calculated to make printers amiable when every one is shivering and things going wrong the force gets the "bumswogles."

If Germany wins in this war what will happen to the United States? Think what this may mean to you.

If a man who does not own a razor can't raise 15 cents now he must raise whiskers.

Ten regiments of Indians have been placed along the Mexican border. Now let Villa give warwhoop and he'll get his feet roasted.

It is not a good sign when a man attempts to cut his throat.

The inventor of a new square funnel contends it operates more rapidly than a round one, which causes a rotary motion in liquids and delays their flow. Now will some one explain why liquids make a rotary motion when running out of a funnel. And why it turns the same way always. It is forbidden now to talk German in the English language so don't forget or you may regret.

Talk is cheap but it takes work, dirt and plowing to raise potatoes. The good book says ye shall reap if ye faint not. Don't talk so much that you faint when you go to work.

These are melancholy May days. The circus people say that even the clowns look sad as they practice for the summer campaign, and it is impossible to tell them from a country editor paying his paper bill.

A negro boy met a priest on the street and said "good morning Father." The priest asked him "are you a Christian my son?" The negro boy, rolled up his big white eyes with a look of surprise, and said "Lordy-massy no, it's bad enough bein' a nigger let alone bein' a Christian."

A pan with two handles places the cook at a disadvantage when the hired hand slips in to kiss her, because he can grab it and keep it away from her: with one handle, she can grab it and whack him over the head.

Bigger and Better Ford Car Tires

GOODRICH
375 SIZE (31 X 3 3/4 INCHES) 375
BLACK SAFETY TREAD TIRES

THE balance line for the Ford car is drawn, and the sum total of its perfection struck with that new Goodrich tire, the bigger and better Ford car tire—Goodrich's "Three-Seventy-Five."

OF SUPER-SIZE and SUPER-STRENGTH it not only meets the INDIVIDUAL NEEDS of the Ford car, —but DOUBLES its VIRTUES.

New as today, it is nevertheless already familiarly known by the knowing as—

Goodrich's
"Three-Seventy-Five"

That's its size: Three and seventy-five hundredths inches in the cross section. And it's an inch bigger too in the circumference.

Its heroic size, however, is designed to fit 30-inch rims on Ford cars. It is made solely with the five-finger safety tread.

It costs but little more than ordinary tires at the outset; and the natter appearance and added comfort it gives your Ford car, and its own greater dollar ECONOMY, make it the better buy in the end.

Initiative Clears Path to Success

Matthew C. Brush, was once a Chicago newsboy. Today, he is the President of the Boston Elevated P. Road. In an article by Alfred Grunberg in the June American Magazine we read:

"The qualities that stand out the strongest in his own amazing career are the qualities which Matt Brush demands most emphatically in his men."

"What can an employee do to attract your attention the most quickly and surely?" I asked him.

"Show initiative," he replied instantly. "Without initiative any man will have a rocky, uphill road, with poor pickings all along. One of the greatest of all handicaps is the fact that it is easier to let other men think for you than to think for yourself."

"One of our crane operators was going home around six o'clock in the evening when a five-ton girder dropped on the track from a big six-horse truck. The girder blocked the track completely and tied up traffic."

Now, this man was off duty. He couldn't have been censured if he had said to himself, "This is none of my business. I've done my day's work and I'm through. Let the night force attend to it."

"Instead, he called up to the road master of the surface line, told him what had happened, and asked permission to get a crane from the yards and clean up the obstruction. In an hour this man had cleared the track, whereas, if he had gone on home it would have taken three or four hours to do it."

TREE TALKS

Maple sugar season is over. It ended when the first leaves unfurled, the sap then becoming less sweet. Seventy drops of sap per minute flow from good trees, and twenty-five gallons of sap make about five pounds of sugar.

A single issue of a New York Sunday paper is said to consume the timber from fifteen acres of forest. If Pennsylvania's State Forests were fully stocked, they could furnish enough pulpwood to keep forty Sunday papers going indefinitely.

Forest fires in the United States have caused an average annual loss of seventy human lives and twenty-five to fifty million dollars worth of timber. The indirect losses run close to half a billion a year.

If the 25,000,000 trees planted on the Pennsylvania State Forests were set four feet apart, as they actually are in the woods, and planted in a straight line, they would cover almost 19,000 miles. Planted twenty feet apart, they would provide shade trees on both sides of 40,000 miles of highway.

The latest advice is not to char the ends of fence posts before setting them in the ground. The charcoal is said to hold water and thereby hasten rotting of the post.

Sixty-Three Foot Steel Observation

Tower to be Erected on the White Deer State Forest

The Chief Forest Fire Warden has signed a contract for the purchase of a sixty-three foot steel observation tower, to be erected on the White Deer State Forest in Union county, near the Forest House. This will be the fifth tower of its kind in Pennsylvania, and the first of a series of about a hundred which it is proposed to erect in the forested parts of the State as an aid in controlling forest fires.

The tower will be crowned with a circular built-in room about seven or eight feet in diameter, with a continuous glass window around the whole circumference. At the beginning of the forest fire seasons the room will be stocked with instruments and provisions, so that a fire guard may be on duty every hour. The tower will be connected with forest headquarters and other towers by telephone. Many of those who have leased camp sites in this region have asked permission to install telephones in their camps and connect with this line. The permission will probably be granted.

TO THE PRESIDENT

You do not stand alone, beside you wait Members of Congress, mighty men of state— No thought of party, with you, man to man, Each one a loyal, true American!

Nay, you are not alone for with you stand The father's sons and husbands of our land, Waiting the summons for their country's needs, Ready to serve, not just in words but deeds.

Alone! Ah no, look out and see the line Of white faced mothers waiting for the sign Of bloody warfare; listen while they pray! Then watch them send their sons forth to the fray.

See too, the line of sisters, sweet-hearts, wives, Sending their men perchance to lose their lives— Their lot to give; and tho' their brave hearts quail Their fealty to the flag will never fail!

Father of all the nations of the world— God of America, now with flags unfurled, Be with our rules while his people wait— Guide thou his hand to steer our ship of state

A PRAYER

Whatever be the work that lies before Us, here, at home, or where the cannons roar And grim death lurks across the sea, Let us not begin hysterically Calmly, as befits our might and power, We must prepare Make ready for the hour When we shall strike—strike with a weighty blow, Worthy alike of allied friend and foe

Much must be done, but danger lies, In haste devoid of thought. The prize Of peace we seek is not attained By shrieks and waving flags, but gained In hours of preparations. Think Where we are going ere we leave the brink.

God of the world, in this our hour Of trial, teach us to use our power! James P. Sinnott, in New York Mail

STATE AGRICULTURAL NOTES

Farmers throughout the State do not look forward to as good a hay crop as last season when all records were broken by the bumper crop.

Estimates show that about fifty percent, of the farmers of Lancaster county are fattening steers for the spring market.

It is estimated that about 166,000 of the 218,000 farmers in Pennsylvania use commercial fertilizers.

There promises to be a large increase in the acreage sown to corn and oats in many sections of the State this year.

Farmers are making heroic efforts to save their wheat fields. A Jefferson county farmer drilled 200 pounds of fertilizer per acre on a thirty acre field and also sowed grass seed with a marked improvement in the condition of his wheat.

Two Hen Stories

"I guess, Pat, you haven't as good a hen here as we have in the States," said an American on a holiday in Roscommon.

"I'll tell you," said the Yankee, "about a hen my mother had. She went out one day and ate a feed of corn and returned and laid twelve eggs. She went out the next day and ate a feed of corn and laid twelve more eggs. She went out the third day and returned and laid twelve more eggs. She went out the fourth day and hatched seventy-two chicks out of thirty-two eggs. Now that is the kind of hen we have in the States."

"Well," said Pat "I'll you about a half-blind hen my mother had. She ate a feed of sawdust, thinking it was oatmeal. She went to her nest and laid a plank twelve feet long. Again on the third day she ate more sawdust and laid another twelve-foot plank. She sat on the three planks and hatched three kitchen chairs, a sofa, one table, and a mahogany chest of drawers. Now," said Pat, with a twinkle in his eye, "that is the kind of hen we have in Roscommon."

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

(By E. O. SELLERS, Acting Director of the Sunday School Course of the Moody Bible Institute.)
(Copyright, 1917, Western Newspaper Union)

LESSON FOR MAY 20

THE IMPORTANCE OF SELF-CONTROL—TEMPERANCE LESSON.

LESSON TEXT—Isa. 28:1-13. GOLDEN TEXT—Every man that striveth for the mastery is temperate in all things.—1 Cor. 9:25.

Wine in the Scriptures is spoken of under four aspects. First, social, that as illustrated by its use at the marriage in Cana. We must not, however, confuse this wine with the spirituous, strong drink of this present day. Second, medicinal (Prov. 31:6-7; 1 Tim. 5:23). These passages do not command us to use it as such, and God has very graciously revealed to us in modern medical research the utility of the use of alcohol in the matter of medicine as a remedy. Third, sacrificial wine (Matt. 26:27-29; Luke 22:17-20), and, fourth wine is spoken about as productive of the woes of men (See Amos 6:1; Heb. 2:15; Prov. 23:20). It is also mentioned by way of contrast (See Eph. 5:18).

The Scriptures speak of drunkards in four different ways: (1) They are to be stoned (Deut. 21:20); (2) Drunkards lead to poverty (Prov. 23:21); (3) Drunkards are to be separated from other men (1 Cor. 5:11); (4) they are to be finally separated from God (1 Cor. 6:9).

Abstinence from strong drink is enjoined in the Scriptures under three heads: (1) the priest and Nazirite (Num. 6:3; Luke 1:15); (2) the ruler (Prov. 31:4); (3) those who are to worship Jehovah (Lev. 10:3).

This particular lesson is taken from a portion of Isaiah's prophecy where he is anticipating what is about to happen to Samaria, and uttering his warnings unto Judah.

I. The Steps of Intemperance. First, Disgrace and Dishonor (v. 1). The city of Samaria is compared to a chaplet of flowers on a drunkard's brow, which shall be trodden under foot because of his inebriety. Drunkenness seemed to have been so widespread as to become a national sin. Second, Disease and Degeneracy (v. 2). The pride of beauty spoken of in verse one is to "fall to the earth." This glorious beauty was after all only a "fading flower" (1 Pet. 1:24). The coming of the Assyrians upon Samaria is described in a three-fold way: (1) As a "tempest of hail"; (2) as a "destroying storm"; (3) as a "tempest of mighty waters overflowing." The thought contained is that of widespread and overwhelming destruction. Back of this work of devastation and destruction and desolation was the wrath of God against sin (Ch. 2:4-9). All earthly pride shall be trodden under foot. Samaria, "a fading flower," was to be greedily eaten up by the oncoming enemy.

II. Those Reached by Intemperance. Strong drink causes men to err in their conduct, in their moral insight, in their judgments. It reaches the beautiful (v. 1); it reaches the learned (v. 7); it reaches those in authority; in fact all classes. It leads men to the depths of degradation and to the loss of their wills (v. 8); it makes men to become beasts, wallowing in their own vomit. Not only Samaria, but "these also" (vv. 7 and 8), that is people of Jerusalem have erred through wine and strong drink. Even the priests and the prophets had and do so now (See Ch. 56:10-12; Micah 2:11). The priests were especially inexcusable because of the plain directness of God's word (Lev. 10:9-10; Ezekiel 44:21). The result of their intemperance was that they utterly failed in their official acts. They reeled in vision and stumbled in judgment. The use of wine and strong drink made their social gatherings filthy and disgusting. Temperance is the habit of abstaining from everything that destroys. It is the control and right use of God's good gifts for service. Intemperance is lack of control or the wrong use of God's gifts in self-indulgence.

III. The Lesson in Contrast. Jerusalem vs. Samaria. Samaria's crown of pride was not the glory of God. Its beauty was a fading flower (v. 4) his wisdom condemned through the ignorance of Samaria (vv. 6, 7, 12). His strength versus their weakness and wickedness (vv. 6, 13). God teaches by contrast as well as by direct precept. Verses nine and ten may be taken as a mocking answer of the people to God's prophet. Isaiah intimates that the time to begin our instruction is in childhood (v. 9), that precept must be upon precept, and line upon line, here a little and there a little. There never is a time when we can let up in this struggle against the mighty evil of intemperance.

Take as a reply (v. 9) this would seem to indicate that God took them to be babies just weaned. If the prophet himself, is the speaker, then Jehovah is represented as teaching knowledge to babes and not to the self-sufficient. It is these whom he "makes to understand his message" (R. V.). and the method of his teaching is precept upon precept. If we will not hear God's loving and patient call to repentance he will speak to us through cruel enemies. If we will not teach our children, if we will not keep everlastingly agitating this question he will use other means (v. 11).
